A number of bills to re-legalize betting on horse racing are expected to be introduced in the legislature, which two years ago repealed a legalization statute after a bitter controversy.

There has been much interest in the governor's attitude, especially whether he would at least sign a re-legalization bill if he would not actively endorse relegalization.

may begin.

O'Daniel's major appointment was that of Carr P. Collins of Dallas as chairman of the highway commission. Some opposition had been expressed to the Dallas man because of the fact Harry Hines, who spends much of his time in Dallas, already, is on the commission. It was not known, therefore, whether appointment of Collins would be speedily confirmed.

Mr. Roosevelt said a change in world conditions might permit abandonment of the whole thing. Replying to a question, the president said his position was not confusing. When asked if he favored fortifying Guam, the president asked if the pending bill provided for that.

that.

Alis questioners said it did not and later the president asserted that it provided only for deepening the harbor, for additional barracks for the small number of marines now on the island, and improving landing facilities for planes.

To Double Force

The president talked to reporters a short while after it was authoritatively disclosed that the army proposes to double its present force itatively disclosed that the army proposes to double its present force of about 13,000 men in the Panama Canal Zone to provide an "adequate peace garrison."

The chief executive said the press could do the people a real service by pointing out the difference between authorizations and appropriations. He said congress early in the last century formed the habit of passing authorizations for future programs, but that approximately $5,000,000,000 or $6,000,000,000,000 in authorized projects had neverbeen built.

One congress could not commi One congress could not commit another to a project Mr. Roosevelt declared, and in passing authorizations it merely meant that one congress hoped some future congress would appropriate money for the authorization. In other words he said it was an expression of a pious hope, or a new year's resolution.

The president denied the item was being pressed at this time as a possible basis for negotiating with Japan on Pacific problems.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT REACHED MIDDLE OF HIS SECOND TERM TO FIND CONGRESS UNCERTAIN MOOD

The biggest popular vote in history ushered him to his second inauguration in the rain two years ago this noon. His sway over the biggest Democratic majorities ever in congress was but little disputed. Many persons talked of an era of good feeling.

The political developments of the last two years, the sharp disputes and closely drawn votes stand close in the foreground, but houses for the poor.

When the 76th congress came marching in this month with an increased Republican minority Mr. Roosevelt said the biggest ton and strengthening of the New Deal laws already enacted. Other recommendations, such as a deferense program, government reputes and closely drawn votes organization, and aid for the rail-roads, were listed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(4?)—
With most of his New Deal social and economic program enacted, President Roosevelt reached the middle of his second term today to find a growing independence in congress and uncertainty clouding the outcome of his appeal for a united liberalism.

INDICATIONS POINT TOWARD CONTINUED PARTY DIFFERENCE

RELIEF BILL AND APPOINT-MENTS BRING BITTERNESS TO SURFACE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(P)—
The 76th congress concluded itsthird week today amid multiplying signs that democratic peacemakers faced a tremendous task, in their efforts to achieve party harmony before the 1940 campaigns.

harmony before the 1940 campaigns.

The two major subjects of congressional action—the relief appropriation and President Roosevelt's appointments—brought boling to the surface the bitterness generated by the court bill fight two years ago and accentuated last summer by new deal efforts to defeat unfriendly democratic senators.

The situation was demonstrated clearly yesterday when Sen-senators.

The situation was demonstrated of clearly yesterday when Senator Tydings D-(Md) denounced Mr. Roosevelt's unsuccessful efforts to bring about his defeat for renomination by Former Rep. David J. Lewis, a new dealer. Tydings spoke during debate on Mr. Roosevelt's appointment of Harry Hopkins, former WPA administrator, to be secretary of commerce. He related that the President and Lewis rode together through Maryland and that the President promised a bridge would be built across the lower Potomac river.

"It was one of the most disgraceful exhibitions in the political history of the United States" the Maryland senator said. "There is not a man in this senate who can deny it. A $3,000,000 bridge was dangled before the people in Maryland as political bait but they voted for me 3 to 1."

Some other senators had critivized some of Hopkins' actions while relief director, but Tydings shouted to the listening senate and crowded galleries that it was not Hopkins "but a higher authority who opposed me in Maryland."

"Why should we censure Harry Hopkins?" he continued, adding he would vote for him. "Is there a man in this body who doesn't know that Harry Hopkins did no

Sonator Gillette (D-Iowa) whose renomination Hopkins opposed, disclosed that he too, would vote for confirmation. He based his position on the ground that a President should be free to select his own cabinet.

State police organized their forces today to combat widespread operations of forgery and check erations of forgery and check swindling bands reported to be victimizing Texas business peo-ple of thousands of dollars an-

Equipped with elaborately prethose used by national insurance companies, oil operators and other business firms several of the swindling groups are now ac-tive in Texas cities and towns, Homer Garrison, Jr., public safe-ty director, warned. The swind-lers moved from state to state and are difficult to apprehend because of their changing methods and swift movements, Garrison said.

For an example, the state police head pointed to reports of a band of fictitious check passers, a man, woman, young girl and boy, who recently cashed bogus checks drawn from accounts of six firms in six different Texas six firms in six different Texas, banks.
